

 Anonymous
Anonymous, Alabama
U.S.A.

Submitted: 8/25/2008 9:56:57 AM
Modified: 8/25/2008 10:28:17 AM

Consumer Comment

All better business bureau are jokes

All the better business bureau are jokes. When you don't accept the response from the business the BBB closes It saying the business made a good faith effort to resolve the complaint when they didn't.

The BBB will lie to you & report false information on the companies BBB record to mislead the public. It is nothing positive for us only for the company. So the company can continue to victimize & abuse new customers.

The BBB gives good rating's to companies who don't deserve it, the BBB makes the consumer look bad by falsely reporting the consumer did not accept their good offer when the business didn't over anything or resolve anything.

The better business bureau also report's the company has resolved complaint's when they haven't. The BBB say's they don't take sides but after my experience they do take sides.

The better business bureau are business advocate's not for the consumer I have been set aside by the BBB too much & I am tired of my voice not being heard!. The business lies to the BBB to make you bad this is what the real problem is!.

Nothing positive comes out of filing complaint's with the BBB for us the consumer. Consumer agencies do nothing to help protect us from bad business they should act on 1 complaint so new customer's won't be taken advantage of again!.

But has you see nothing is being done to help us.

 Firefly
Phoenix, Arizona
U.S.A.

Submitted: 8/25/2008 11:42:42 PM
Modified: 8/26/2008 8:44:07 AM

Consumer Comment

Couldn't Agree More...I have my own story to tell

I had a problem with a moving company called Transglobal for breach of contract. In the middle of moving overseas, the last thing you want to be hassled with is a shady moving company. (see other reports about Transglobal on