

Nick
Glendale, Arizona
U.S.A.

Submitted: 5/3/2006 1:14:53 PM
Modified: 5/3/2006 1:14:53 PM

Consumer Comment

Of course it's a rip off.....

The BBB was started by Al Capone..... They extorted money from businesses for 'protection'. After Capone was locked up, they tried to become a LITTLE more legit, but as stated, they're still fraudulent.

Charles
Phenix City, Alabama
U.S.A.

Submitted: 5/7/2006 5:06:53 PM
Modified: 5/7/2006 5:06:53 PM

Consumer Comment

Better business bureau worthless

Better business bureau does not care for the consumers to protect us, they say report a business that has treated you unfairly yet they ignore you & don't resolve crap, the better business bureau is suppose to promot fair business to see to it the business treats you fairly.

The, attorney general office treats you the same way they do not help you resolve anything with the business either accept give you the run around or make excuses not to try to help you resolve anything, this website will expose the wrong doings from the better business bureau & to the attorney general office how wrong that they treat people, they treat people has bad has the crooked businesses do!.

Lonny
Sauk Centre, Minnesota
U.S.A.

Submitted: 5/22/2006 6:33:03 AM
Modified: 5/22/2006 6:33:03 AM

Consumer Comment

I too have dealt with the BBB.

I believe it was around the year 2000 that the BBB badgered me into joining, using the tactics others have described. $400 poorer I went the year wondering just what it was that that money was doing for me. I run a small business, and if a customer has a problem, believe me the come to me face to face and we resolve it. So... I decline renewal,