While working at Reliable Heating & Air I observed disturbing and abusive behavior on the part of Dan Jape. On one occasion Dan poured water and soft drinks all over Barbara Japes desk. Stuffed some kind of food and paper into a plant/fish bowl, chewed up candy and spit it on her desk. On several occasions Dan paraded young woman around the office in front of the office staff and Barbara. He brought a young girl to the company Christmas party. Buy far the worst I observed was as I was leaving the office, driving out of the parking lot, Dan hit Barbara across the face during what appeared to be a heated argument. I stopped and backed my vehicle into a parking space and got out to assist Barbara. Dan started to come across the parking lot toward me then stopped. The squeal of my tires seemed to break up the confrontation. Barbara was in tears and Dan stormed back into the office. Barbara showed up at the office several times with marks on her face and arms claiming she fell at her house. They didn't look like bruises from a fall. One of the reasons I left Reliable after approximately 7 years of service was because it was very uncomfortable when Dan was in the office. Dan was very hard to be around for over a year prior to my leaving. Dan would show up at the office appearing to either be drunk or on drugs, acting very strange. I wasn't sure what he might be capable of in his mental state and would avoid the office when he was there.

Sincerely,
Jeff Barber
